PROJECTS

Full Stack Developer – PigCommander finance app

ago- sept

Académic experience. Henry Bootcamp

Design and development of a finance app.

Development of a personal finance application that allows users to record their monthly income and expenses, automate expenses, record investments, set savings goals, view news and much more. In particular, my responsibilities included implementing user authentication and authorization, as well as automating and managing transactions and global state. Thanks to my contribution, the application has innovative features and an improved user experience.
